HEALTHY CONFLICT
for strong churches

APRIL 28
OR
SEPTEMBER 29

Conflict allows for growth and should not be avoided. Healthy Conflict for Strong Churches is a workshop for church leaders who want to engage conflict to build strong communities and foster growth. Participants will leave with tools and resources for building healthy conflict culture in this four-hour workshop.

Diane offers a rare combination of systems thinking, trauma-informed practice, and deep pastoral wisdom. This workshop gave me practical tools and a shared language for staying present and in relationship through hard conversations. I wish every congregational leader could experience it, and I'd especially encourage churches to send two or three leaders together
--Rev. Laurie Manning, Pastor, Skyline Community Church (UCC), Oakland, CA

This training helps you recognize many of the emotions going on beneath the surface of our everyday human interactions, and so it helps you move past the "knee-jerk" response to a conflict to something more constructive.
